NEW YORK POST ALLEGES MOVE BY BIG BANKS

Says Leviathan Is Allowed to Rot at Its Pier in Hoboken

New York, Feb. 12—(AP)—The New York Evening Post says in a copyrighted article today that the Leviathan, largest liner in the world, is being allowed to rot at Hoboken pier where she was sent in order to remove "a menace to British shipping."

The Post, in a story by Willis J. Ballinger, says the Leviathan has been abandoned by her owners, the International Mercantile Marine, to a "feast of the elements" and that lack of care has already inflicted a million dollars damage on her.

The docking of the Leviathan, the article says, "marks one of the closing chapters in a chain of intricate and astounding moves whereby high-powered finance, the British government and the United States Shipping Board have wrecked the American merchant marine."

Goes Back To 1902 The Post goes back to 1902 when it says, Pierpont Morgan, the elder, organized the International Mercantile Marine, a combination of seven British merchant lines under an American holding company. The Post calls this "a clever scheme first to pour American funds into English shipping interests, all the time, actually to protect British shipping interests from American aggression."

After the World War, the paper continues, the Shipping Board operated the Leviathan and other vessels and they "constituted a menace to British shipping." When Congress decided to sell the fleet in 1929, the I. M. M. bid for it, but it went to the high bidders, Chapman & Sheedy, and the ships for another two years "continued to cut deeply into British shipping profits."

Things Happened "Then," the Post declares, "things began to happen. The depression overtook the company which was operating these great American ships. The Shipping Board 'cracked down' on Chapman & Sheedy and 4,500 American stockholders in 42 states and harassed them at every turn. When the smoke cleared away an almost unbelievable thing had taken place.

"The International Mercantile Marine, organized to protect British shipping, had the Leviathan."

"One year later the Leviathan, the George Washington, the America and the Republic had been swept from the seas and were tied up at wharves in Hoboken."

Dr. Dean is charged with the poison killing of Dr. John P. Kennedy.

350 GUARDSMEN PROTECT THREE ACCUSED BLACKS

Surround Mississippi Court House to Prevent Mob Action

Hernando, Miss., Feb. 12—(AP)—Armed with machine guns, rifles and tear gas bombs, 350 National Guardsmen stood by to preserve order today as the DeSoto county grand jury indicted three Negroes on a charge of criminally attacking a 17-year-old Holly Springs, Miss., school girl.

Prosecutors said the Negroes would be brought to trial early this afternoon. If the Negroes are convicted, they likely will be returned to Jackson, Miss., for safe keeping.

The defendants, Ernest McGhee, 23, Johnny Jones, 23, and Isaac Howard, 25, were brought here by troops at dawn today from Hinds county. They were locked in a vault in the courthouse. A barred wire entanglement was thrown about the building, with a machine gun in readiness for immediate action.

John Wallace, a transient Negro who claims Moline, Ill., and Memphis, Tenn., as his homes, had his throat slashed and Mrs. Lizzie Russell, also colored, of this city, was struck in the face early Sunday morning in a quarrel over a dollar. The police were called about 2:30 Sunday morning when Mrs. Russell sought to secure a warrant for the arrest of Wallace, who she claimed struck her in the face. At the time the police were unaware of the slashing affray.

When Wallace was found and taken to the police station, it was

SENATE'S SGT.-AT-ARMS "GOT" HIS MAN TODAY

MacCracken is Also Held in Contempt of D. C. Court Today

Washington, Feb. 12—(AP)—William P. MacCracken, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce, was arrested today on a Senate warrant charging contempt of that assembly after he had paid a $100 fine for holding the District of Columbia Supreme Court in contempt.

The arresting officers immediately took their prisoner to the Senate, where it was presumed his trial would be held without delay. The arrest occurred almost on the dot of 1 P. M. at the court office where MacCracken had just paid his fine in preference to 24 hours in jail.

Delighted Senators Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue, to the delight of some Senators, held the Hoover Assistant Secretary of Commerce for A.S. in contempt. Because he had claimed in a writ of habeas corpus that he was held a bodily restraint by the Senate Sergeant-at-Arms, Chesley W. Jurney.

The Senate wants MacCracken arrested and brought at once before it on the contempt charge in connection with removals from his records after these had been subpoenaed in the airmail contract investigation. But Jurney refused to arrest him when MacCracken showed up at the Jurney apartment Saturday, holding off until the Senate was in session.

Uninvited Guest MacCracken spent the night with the Senate official as an "uninvited guest." He insisted he was under arrest. Jurney insisted not. Justice O'Donoghue agreed with Jurney, invalidated the writ he had issued Saturday at request of counsel for MacCracken, and fined the latter.

After paying the fine, MacCracken was followed by Jurney and secret service men, but they deferred arresting him on the Senate warrant until he was released from the custody of the United States Marshal.

His counsel, Frank J. Hogan, told Jurney he did not intend to attempt to have another habeas corpus writ issued and served prior to MacCracken's appearance before the Senate.

"The Senate will not stay in session always," he commented.

Bureau Co. Veteran Was Guard at Bier of Martyr Lincoln

Kewanee, Ill., Feb. 12—(AP)—Alexander Smith, 88, Buda, Ill., is one of the few survivors of the original guard of honor who stood at attention at the bier of Abraham Lincoln as he lay in state at Springfield, Ill.

Smith, a member of Company F, 146th Illinois Infantry, stood guard for 48 hours and recalled that crowds walking four abreast passed the casket all day and all night the day before the services.

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Toulon Member of House

Toulon, Ill., Feb. 12—(AP)—A heart attack proved fatal to William H. Jackson, 61, Republican representative in the General Assembly from the 37th district for the past five years.

Jackson died three hours after being stricken at 7 A. M. yesterday. He was born in Stark county and numbered among his progenitors Capt. Nathan Fisher of the Revolutionary Army.

A son, William, Jr., University of Illinois student, survives.

REPUBLICANS PAY TRIBUTE TO A. LINCOLN

Gather in Springfield Today for Annual Memorial Fete

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12—(AP)—Illinois Republicans gathered here today to pay homage to the memory of Abraham Lincoln on the 125th anniversary of his birth and to make plans for the forthcoming election at which they hope to better the fortunes of the party which has met with two major defeats in four years.

The Illinois Young Republican League, around which much of today's activities centered, yesterday led a pilgrimage from Springfield to the grave of Ann Rutledge at Petersburg. Visited also was the grave of B. F. Stephenson, founder and first Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Today, the Young Republicans, their orcs augmented by a gathering of the party's "elder statesmen," held a memorial service at the tomb of Abraham Lincoln in Oak Ridge cemetery. C. Wayland Brooks, Chicago attorney, the party's unsuccessful nominee for State Treasurer in 1932, delivered the memorial address.

Afterwards, an open forum was held at which the future of the Republican party in the state was discussed. This evening, Republicans, both old and young, will gather at a banquet at which Dewey Short, former Missouri Congressman and George Olmstead, National Director of the Young Republican League, will be the speakers.

OPERATION IS FATAL TO MRS. SAM INSULL, II

Passed Away Sunday in Chicago Hospital from Embolism

Chicago, Feb. 12—(AP)—A kidney operation performed last Thursday proved fatal to Mrs. Samuel Insull, Jr., 36, daughter-in-law of Samuel Insull, former public utilities magnate.

She was apparently headed for recovery until a blood clot formed yesterday at the site of the operation and traveled to the lungs where it interfered with pulmonary function and caused death within half an hour. Her husband was at her bedside.

Mrs. Insull was born in Kewanee, Ill., the daughter of Charles I. Pierce. She was educated at Rosemary Hall, Greenwich, Conn., and at Smith College. She married Samuel Insull, Jr., July 15, 1926.

A cable notification was sent to Samuel Insull, Sr., in Athens, Greece, where he has been opposing extradition to America to face embezzlement charges in connection with the collapse of his utility companies.

2 LONG-HUNTED CRIMINALS ARE CAUGHT SUNDAY

Baltimore Police Capture Alleged Mailrobbers, Kidnapers

Baltimore, Feb. 12—(AP)—The fingerprints on a beer bottle reached out today to snatch two long-hunted men to prison. The prints, police said, are those of Basil Banghart—"The Owl,"—and Isaac Costner, arrested here yesterday and wanted for kidnapping and highway robbery.

Banghart is regarded as one of America's cleverest criminals; a Carolina mountaineer with a trail of arrests and indictments stretching from the Carolinas to Chicago. He is wanted in Chicago as a member of the notorious Touhy gang in connection with the kidnapping of John (Jake) Barber Factor.

The beer bottle fingerprints, however, reached for him today not from Chicago but from Charlotte, N. C., where on last November 15, a mail truck was robbed of $105,000. At an apartment in Charlotte where the mail robbers lived, a bottle was found. On it were the fingerprints of Banghart and Costner, and of two other men, Charles (Ice Wagon) Connors and Ludwig (Dutch) Schmidt.

The capture of "The Owl" and Costner was called an "excellent bit of detective work" by federal men. It was the climax of a pursuit that extended over many states.

Banghart, Costner and two women—one of whom said she was a sister-in-law of Roger Touhy, Chicago—were arrested yesterday. (Continued on Page Two)

Crisis Approaches for Insull Brothers in Fights to Evade Trials in Cook County Courts

(By The Associated Press.) The fugitive Insull brothers, Samuel and Martin, among the great figures of finance in the boom days, today found the crisis of their separate battles to evade trial at Chicago fast approaching.

TRIAL OF ARMY OFFICER BEGINS IN TEXAS COURT

Lt. Murrell, Ex-Football Star, Accused by a Divorcee

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 12—(AP)—After Federal Judge R. J. McMillan had overruled a defense motion for delay, both sides announced ready today in the trial of Lieut. J. H. Murrell, former West Point football star, charged with assaulting Blanche Ralls Boisclair, attractive Birmingham, Ala., divorcee.

The defense motion for delay was based on the plea that only seven of 13 depositions sought from Birmingham witnesses had arrived. Judge McMillan commented that there was doubt depositions can be presented in the case since it is customary to introduce only witnesses in a federal court.

The court room was crowded to capacity. Murrell's parents and sister were by his side.

The charge against Murrell grew out of a party following the Texas Centenary football game here last October. He is alleged to have attacked the Birmingham girl on the Fort Sam Houston reservation, thereby giving the federal court jurisdiction in the case.

Crazed Man Was Killed by Police

Coulterville, Ill., Feb. 12—(AP)—Crazed apparently by religious hallucinations, Joseph Ward, cattle feeder was shot and killed in a gun battle with officers yesterday in which Hal Knott, Deputy Sheriff, was seriously wounded.

Ward threatened death to two men who went to his house on a stock farm to take him provisions yesterday.

"I am going to preach to you," he said, brandishing a revolver, "and then I'm going to heaven and I'm going to take you with me."

The men escaped through a window and notified officers. Ward came to Coulterville a few hours later and engaged three officers in a gunfight. He was shot and killed.

Government Retaliates With Decree of Martial Law

(By The Associated Press.) Outbreaks of violence in little Austria today added gravity to abnormal conditions existing in much of Europe.

More than 30 persons were killed in clashes between Socialists and government forces. Martial law was declared at the danger points where the Socialists called a general strike.

French industry was paralyzed by a 24-hour nation-wide strike warning the government against use of Fascist methods in the crisis. Thousands paraded in Paris but disorders were few.

In Spain, a general strike was declared at Bilbao, sponsored by Communists. Despite minor clashes in other sections, a government spokesman said the country as a whole was tranquil.

Week-end political violence resulted in injury to a number of persons in the Irish Free State. A woman and two children were seriously hurt by a bomb. Police battled government opposition forces at Dundalk and Drogheda yesterday.

Vienna, Feb. 12—(AP)—From 32 to 42 persons were reported killed in pitched battles between Socialists and authorities today as Socialists proclaimed a nation-wide general strike and the government retaliated with martial law.

Martial law was enforced in Vienna. Graz and Linz, the fighting in the last city accounted for 31 to 41 of the dead, while one was killed in Vienna.

A large number were reported wounded, and it was reported that 60 of these might die from their injuries.

The deaths in Linz came in two pitched battles. In the first, machine guns and bombs were used, killing 16. In the second, the government forces used artillery, and 15 to 25 more were reported killed.

Seriousness Grows Hour by hour the situation throughout the country seemed to be growing more serious.

The artillery fire at Linz was reported to have killed from 15 to 25 men. It was difficult to obtain accurate information, for the river Danube waterfront had taken on the aspect of a war.

The embattled Social Democrats against whom the government directed the big gun took up positions in the shipyards and in sheltered spots along the wharves.

The artillerymen used howitzers. Whether the rebels had field pieces was not immediately determined.

The government mobilized every available military force to suppress the uprising.

At Linz it sent artillery into action after 16 men had been killed in a battle at the Socialist headquarters.

That battle began when government forces attempted to raid the headquarters and the Socialists tried to beat them off with hand grenades.

Took Headquarters The police and soldiers replied with machine guns. They occupied the headquarters.

A detachment of Socialists retaliated with a raid on the police station, afterwards fortifying themselves on the bank of the river Danube.

It was there that the government artillery was unleashed in a savage effort to shell the rebels into submission.

Linz was only one spot in a suddenly strife-torn nation.

The Socialist party called a nation-wide general strike. One police inspector was killed in a riot in Vienna.

The government of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfus replied to the Socialist move with the declaration of martial law in Vienna and Linz.

It was ruled that any civilian caught with a weapon should be shot immediately.

Aside from the slaying of the police inspector, no general street fighting was reported in Vienna up to 1:35 P. M.

Sharks Attack British Squadron in Scapa Flow

London—Forty vessels of the British home fleet in full panoply of war did not frighten the sharks of Scapa Flow, Orkney Islands. Perhaps they had often attacked the German warships sunk in those waters without suffering any casualties. At any rate, they attacked the invading ships. One of the sharks picked a small vessel as its prey and was killed only after a stiff battle. Another shark, measuring about 27 feet, was struck and injured by the drifter Muriel.
The vessel lurched from the force of the impact, and the shark immediately wheeled about and launched itself against the hull. The bangs sounded like gunshots and were plainly heard on Scapa pier.

WESTERN STATES IN
FIGHT OVER RIGHTSBoundaries, Water and Oil
Cause of Disputes.

Denver.—The status of disputes among western states surrounding and including Colorado has not quite reached the point where it may be said that all is quiet on the western front.

The quarrels center around such widely divergent things as water rights, boundaries, truck licenses and oil.

A parley among Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming over allocation of waters of the North Platte river adjourned here recently in a deadlock, with each state standing pat for what it considered its rights. Each state wants more water for new power and irrigation projects.

Colorado Wants to Borrow.
Nebraska's claim to Platte river waters comes under the general heading, "first come, first served."

The corn and sugar beet growing state has received some court support to its contention that states nearer the headwaters of the river, cannot deprive Nebraska of water after it already had developed irrigation projects.

Colorado wants to borrow some water from the North Platte near the source, which is in Colorado, then pay it back later, meaning down the river farther, to Wyoming and Nebraska.

After starting in Colorado, the North Platte winds through Wyoming and that state wants its share for a big power and irrigation project near Casper. Nebraska also wants to expand its use of North Platte water by building a power and irrigation project near North Platte, Neb.

A satisfactory settlement of this tangle appears difficult.

Boundary Dispute.
Colorado and New Mexico still have a boundary dispute inherited from pioneer times. Gov. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado gave economy as a reason for refusing to permit an appropriation to complete a survey which would, perhaps, make it clear to some residents along the Colorado-New Mexico border just where they stood.

Fort Morgan, Colo., and Scottsbluff, Neb., were hot spots earlier this year in the Nebraska-Colorado truck license war. Arrests were made at both places of truckers of the other state who did not carry licenses of both states. Peace was declared when Colorado passed a reciprocal truck license law to conform with Nebraska's.

The difficulty over oil developed after Governor Johnson of Colorado assured Gov. Leslie A. Miller his state would use Wyoming oil, in preference to all other, for improving its roads. The Standard Oil Company of California, however, claimed it offered oil to Colorado cheaper than Wyoming oil could be obtained. Wyoming believes that Colorado should prove its loyalty to its sister state by using its products. Coloradans are divided on that question.

Pecatonica

Inquiry was being conducted here today in connection with the finding of a possible suicide note early this morning on a bridge spanning the Pecatonica river at Freeport. A tramp who found the note tied to the bridge turned it over to the Freeport police. It read as follows:

"I got nothing left in Amboy, Ill. Lost everything I had, so good-bye. Guess who this is for the last time."

Little credence to a possible suicide theory is given by the Freeport police this afternoon, when it became known that no citizen of Amboy was believed to be missing.

The note was scribbled on a cheap tablet paper with a lead pencil and was in a careless, scrawling hand, which indicated that it might have been written by a boy of school age. About two years ago, a similar note was found in a local hotel, which was unsigned and stated that the body of the writer would be found between Dixon and the Mississippi river.

As in the case of the Freeport note, no name was signed to the missive.

Dry Dock for Big Liners
Is Completed at London

London.—The largest dry dock in the world is completed. Characterized as one of the greatest feats of engineering, the dock has been under construction for two and a half years. Its cost is $3,000,000.

Originally it was intended to provide accommodation for the projected 70,000-ton Cunard liner. This uncompleted vessel, however, still is in the docks at Clydebank, while the Cunard company and the British government discuss various ways of raising the necessary funds for its completion.

Meanwhile the railway company has gone ahead with the dry dock, which is 1,200 feet long and 135 feet wide at the entrance, and will have adjoining it a 7,000-foot quay well capable of berthing seven of the largest liners, as well as eight large passenger and cargo sheds.

The dock was constructed under extreme physical handicaps, for under the site a bed of sand charged with artesian water at considerable pressure was discovered. It became apparent that unless preventive measures were taken quickly the water would force its way through into the dock excavations. The engineers solved the problem by sinking tube wells down to the sand.

The Avenue of Flags

Millions of visitors to A Century of Progress in 1933 who entered the exposition grounds through the Twelfth Street gates received their first impression of the Fair through the Avenue of Flags. Framed by fluttering banners and beautifully green foliage was the imposing entrance of the Hall of Science, and flanking the Avenue were the Administration Building, Sears Roebuck Building, and the buildings of Italy, Sweden and Czechoslovakia. The Avenue of Flags will again be a feature of the 1934 exposition, but its colorings will be more brilliant than ever and new lighting effects will make it even more of a fairland at night than it was in 1933.

2 LONG-HUNTED
CAUGHT SUNDAY

cago "public enemy"—were seized at an apartment house. Federal men had many clues, but it was a set of automobile license plates that led directly to the captures.

Escaped Arrest
After Banghart had narrowly escaped arrest while trying to trade an automobile several weeks ago, detectives learned that a set of license plates had been issued to one Lawrence P. Collins. The Collins signature of the application for the plates was in the handwriting of Banghart. The number of the tags was immediately furnished every Baltimore policeman.

Three officers came upon the car bearing the "Collins" tags late Saturday night. More police were called, and when Banghart stepped into the machine shortly afterward he found himself suddenly caged by the muzzles of police guns.

Women Arrested
Officers then went to the apartment Banghart occupied, and to another, which was Costner's. Two women who arrived a little later were arrested. They identified themselves as May Davis, alias May Banghart, 21 years old; and Mrs. Jessie Touhy, 37.

It was nearly noon Sunday when Costner stepped from the elevator to enter his apartment and was arrested. He denied any connection with Banghart, with kidnappings or with robberies. Costner is 38 years old and comes from Knoxville, Tenn. He is wanted for participation in the Factor snatch and the Charlotte mail robbery.

The quartet were held incommunicado today in separate jails "for investigation by the Department of Justice," Chicago authorities also were asking they be held under fugitive warrants until Illinois officers can arrive.

TO RUSH TRIAL
Chicago, Feb. 12—(AP)—Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said today that the second trial of Roger Touhy, Albert Kator and Gustave Shafer, charged with the John Factor kidnapping, will open tomorrow without waiting for the extradition of Basil Hugh Banghart, a fourth member of the Touhy gang, captured yesterday in Baltimore.

"If Banghart fights extradition, it might take us 30 days to bring him back," Crowley said. "Inasmuch as Factor's stay in this country is limited, we feel we might jeopardize our main effort by waiting to include Banghart."

Factor must return to England to stand trial on a charge of receiving money knowing it to have been obtained illegally. The charge rises out of stock deals in which British investigators are said to have lost $7,000,000.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

(Muriel Brewster)

They called him homely, but a beauty rare
Shone in that rugged face we know so well.

The deep set eyes their tale of visions tell,
And mystic, brooding sadness lingers there.

They say he died of an assassin's hand—
We know he lives; his soul is here today.

His eyes still glowing in that magic way,
Lighting the farthest corners of our land—

The land he loved so that he gave his life,
And gave his death, that it might ever be

The Nation that he visioned, far from strife,
And free from every form of slavery.

Lincoln, in thy dear memory today
We lift our hearts—to keep thy dream we pray.

Pleasant Meeting

Gap Grove P. T. A.

The Gap Grove P. T. A. held its monthly meeting Thursday at the school. The president called the meeting to order and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The Treasurer's report was submitted together with a report of the proceeds from the food sale to which all patrons responded generously. The meeting was then turned over to the program committee and the following numbers were enjoyed:

Double number by primary pupils—"North Wind," and the "Song of the Clock."

Patriotic exercises by grammar pupils.

Musical number by Messrs Williams and Elbers.

Song by five girls, "The Old Spinning Wheel."

Piano solo by Mrs. Catherine Lile.

Song by three little maids, "Silver Threads" and "Daddy of Mine," by three little maids.

The hospitality committee served dainty refreshments and it was voted to have the men serve at the March meeting at the town hall.

Also to have the Dixon Dramatic Club give a play at the hall on February 27th.

"Radio City," Program Tuesday Eve

Remember that the evening of Feb. 13th, tomorrow is the date for the "Radio City" program, which will again be played at the Christian church. When biscuits are to be made for company, the dry ingredients can be measured, combined, covered with waxed paper and stored in the ice box. When ready to be served, the liquid can be added to the mixture and the dough quickly patted out, cut out and baked. This is especially helpful when there is company for dinner and many last-minute preparations are necessary.

General Assembly

Thursday A. M. in Dixon High School

By BRADLEY MOLL

The feminine realm took the school in hand Friday morning by monopolizing the control of the General Assembly in its entirety from the opening speech to the concluding announcements.

The fair sex had complete sway in their talking, and except for interferences toward the masculine field, were oblivious of the or to-be gentlemen on both sides of them.

The customary procedure of having Principal B. J. Frazer open the assembly, was done away with, and Mr. Frazer was "on deck" for but two reasons: first, to enjoy the program, second, to see that the gym was left intact. Prof. A. C. Bowers was the dominating male, and figured quite prominently in the remarks of the young ladies, (much to the delight of the student body.)

The program was arranged to secure some "school spirit" for the scheduled games this week end, and the program consisted of cheer talks, advice and music, in addition to some very clever jokes on the members of the team.

Alice Street had charge of the Assembly and called on the following students and teachers:

Betty Senneff, Arlene Fruin, Miss Kinsella, Catherine Buckner, Miss Richardson, "Chick" Rorer, Helen Kennedy, Rita Toffe, Virginia Klein, Betty Missener and Maxine McGinnis.

The Girls' Chorus rendered a medley of college songs.

The assembly closed with several announcements, the most popular one being that school would be dismissed on Friday.

Delightful Evening at Whitthorne

Last evening President Z. W. Moss of the City National Bank in Dixon and his charming wife, assisted by Vice President John L. Davies and his wife, as co-host and hostess, entertained twenty-seven guests delightfully at dinner at the charming Moss home, Whitthorne. The guests were the board of directors, the officers and the employees of the bank and each one present spent a most enjoyable evening, for after the beautifully appointed dinner, Mrs. H. U. Bardwell entertained with an inspiring review of the book, "Within This Present," by Margaret Ayer Barnes.

Mrs. Mumma Entertains Reading Circle

The Thursday Reading Circle met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Mumma. A vocal duet and encore by Mrs. Nate Morrill and Miss Ora Ptole were enjoyed. The lesson from the study book on Japan was given by Mrs. W. T. Greig. After the program the hostess served a delicious luncheon and a social hour was spent.

Your Washington Birthday Dinner Will Take on a Patriotic Air With This Luscious Spice Cake

Dry Mince Meat Forms Basis Of Tasty Pastry

By NEA Service—

Here's a new deal in chocolate spice cake that will give a patriotic flavor to your Washington's Birthday celebration. It is delectable for the afternoon tea; an ideal accompaniment of repeat wines and can stand on its own merits as a dessert to be served alone.

To make this recipe break a nine ounce package of dry mince meat into pieces. Add one-half cup of cold water and stir until all the lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to a brisk boil and continue for three minutes or until the mixture is practically dry. Allow to cool.

Cream one-half cup of butter with one cup of sugar. Add one egg yolk, well beaten. Sift one and three-quarters of baking powder, one-eighth of baking powder one-eighth teaspoon of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon of cloves and one-half teaspoon of nutmeg. Add alternately with milk (two tablespoons of milk in all) to the egg mixture. Put in two squares of unsweetened chocolate which have been melted. Blend thoroughly. Then fold in one stiffly beaten egg white and the cooled mince meat. Bake in a buttered loaf or angel cake pan in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about forty-five minutes.

The flag which provides the patriotic motif in the picture can be made easily by squeezing confectioners' sugar frosting through a pastry tube. Stars, the NRA emblem or even the dome of the White House can be outlined in frosting for New Deal celebrations. Just cut out a cardboard replica and follow the outline with the pastry tube.

Circle 1, M. E. Aid Held Meeting on Friday Afternoon

Circle No. 1 of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Reinhart, 115 Monroe avenue. The devotional section of the program was in charge of Mrs. G. P. Powell, her subject being "Happiness." Several short poems were read, each of which embodied the thought of the afternoon. The entertainment program was under the direction of Mrs. Alice Berde and included a talk on Chopin by Miss Naomi Wolf, who also played several Chopin compositions.

Mrs. John Weiss gave a descriptive talk on the life of Elizabeth Bennett Browning. Robert Anderson then sang a group of love songs, "Garden of Dreams," "Mother March," and "I Love You Truly." He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Blake Grover. The life story of George Washington was given by Miss Josephine Nichols and a very interesting story of the life of Abraham Lincoln, written by Mrs. Grover Gehant was read by Mrs. Stansell.

Forty-five members and sixteen guests attended this meeting of Circle No. 1 and the afternoon was a very enjoyable and profitable one. Tempting refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Dr. Robert Stansell To Talk to Club on Ladies Night, Tues.

Dr. Robert Basil Stansell, Supt. of the Milwaukee District of the Methodist church, a brother of the local Methodist pastor, will be the Lincoln speaker tomorrow evening at 8:30, under the auspices of the Men's Club of the church. The occasion will be a very happy one.

Woman's Club Meeting Saturday Enjoyable Affair

The Dixon Woman's Club held its regular bi-monthly meeting last Saturday. During the business meeting an invitation was extended to all club members to attend the Congress of Major Problems to be held in Chicago Feb. 15th and 16th. Men and women of national prominence will speak at each session.

Mrs. Harry Edwards, chairman of the music department of the club with a few fitting remarks introduced the members of the Dixon high school orchestra and their very able director, Orville Westgate.

The program was as follows:
Let's Go, march Woods
Novellette, violin ensemble Paul
Gypsy Love Song, cornet solo Harold Goeke
Class Colors Berger
Polka, trombone solo John Longman
Bridal Rose, overture Lavalle
Violin duets—Londonderry Airs—Navarra Sarasate
Mr. and Mrs. Westgate
Accompanied by Mrs. Horner
Selections from "Tannhauser"

This orchestra is a very creditable organization. They are well trained and show a real appreciation and understanding of each number they play. Their audience thoroughly enjoyed their program from the first rollicking march number to the more pretentious and difficult selections from the old German opera with which it ended.

The high point in the program was the violin duet played by Mr. and Mrs. Westgate. Such brilliant technique and lovely tones are seldom heard outside of the concert stages of the great cities of the world. This was a very real treat for a Dixon audience.

Following the program refreshments were served by the hostesses of the afternoon. The table was appropriately appointed in honor of Lincoln's birthday anniversary with Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Lewis as the hostesses were: Messdames Lewis, Morris, Brauer, Netts, Gardner, Rorick, Van Inwegen and Brookner.

Sixteenth Birthday Is Celebrated

Miss Kathryn Herman was happily surprised Saturday evening at her home when a group of friends dropped in to help her celebrate her sixteenth birthday. A tempting 6 o'clock dinner was served after which the guests enjoyed an evening of fun and departed, leaving the hostess many beautiful gifts and wishing her many happy returns of the day.

Valentine Bridge Luncheon Friday

On Friday Mrs. Lyle Prescott entertained twelve friends with a pretty Valentine bridge luncheon at her home. Red roses and valentine colors and motifs were the attractive decorations. Mrs. W. A. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. LaMont.

Program by Frances Shimer Glee Club

On Sunday evening, Feb. 11, at 7:30 in the gymnasium, the Glee Club of the Frances Shimer Junior College presented a study of the Negro spiritual. The success of the study presented similarly last year has urged the director to offer the study again. Programs were sold for fifteen cents, containing explanatory notes and descriptive material which it will be valuable to have. These programs were sold for the benefit of a fund now being raised by the Choristers for the purchase of choir robes to be in the permanent possession of the organization. Friends of the community and surrounding towns were in attendance. Emma Stein, of Dixon, was one of the soloists.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IN PRACTICE.

Public ownership is not a theory alone.

We have had ample experience in this country to cause us insane moments to veer away from it.

In 1932 municipal power plants received for current sold by them an average of 3.1 cents a kilowatt hour; commercial companies received only 2.7 cents.

Municipal plants sold only 5.69 percent and commercial companies sold 94.31 percent of the total current sold.

Annual sales, per consumer, amounted to 1683 k. w. h. for the municipal plants, but 2873 k. w. h. for the commercial companies.

The figures are those compiled by the United States bureau of the census of electrical industries and should be reliable.

Public ownership plants thus far having received 3.1 cents a kilowatt hour and privately operated plants having received only 2.7 cents, the government is launching a huge project in the Tennessee valley so that Senator Norris can demonstrate to the public how it has been overcharged by the private corporations.

We wish him luck. We watch and pray for lower light and power rates ourselves. But nothing yet has happened to convince us that public ownership actually can furnish them. Now and then we see a flare that seems to announce a public ownership victory, and certainly there are some successes somewhere, but when the flare is located and the situation is analyzed, the tax money is in there somewhere or it has been there and never has been repaid. Something phony usually turns up. The rainbow painters some times forget to compute the taxes the corporation would pay, which are lost in municipal ownership. Political statements read beautifully, but when a technical man gets hold of the situation he finds the forgotten items or the two sets of books or the tax levy.

However, we expect the rainbow painters to be able to prove anything when the Tennessee Valley authority has spent its millions. Washington agencies have arranged things so the statistics all have to come out through one faucet, and the federal reserve board no longer can produce statistics disproving what the NRA propaganda bureau has put out. Keeping of two sets of books has been made perfectly good practice, and if the Tennessee Valley authority can't justify its existence with one set it may with another and with perfect control over the statistics, nothing could be sweeter.

MORE COOLIDGE; LESS TUGWELL.

Word comes out from Washington that banking and other businesses of the country are not to be treated as the nation's stepchildren. It is inevitable that sooner or later the public attitude toward business will have to change if prosperity is to come along as rapidly as it ought to.

Government can not stand as a wolf barking at the door of business and expect business to go about as usual.

Capital is timid. Business always lives in fear of government.

President Roosevelt came into office breathing threats against the money changers. That's good politics, but it doesn't help to get business going. Our bankers may have turned out to be of the same common clay as the rest of us, but they are our bankers, all we have, and they pass on our applications for loans, and up to now the government has not reached the point where it will back up bank loans, although its agents urge banks to lend.

The government can not breathe threats against the bankers in one breath and urge them to have confidence in the government in the next breath, and get that confidence.

If there is going to be a change in the social system as Professor Tugwell has promised, then bankers and business are going to move cautiously until they find out how it is going to affect them.

All these things have been affecting business and delaying the resumption of normal processes. It is not strange that somebody in the administration has awakened to these conditions and has sent out word that clawing at banks and business is to be a part of the old New Deal and not a part of the new New Deal.

Of course there has been no proclamation to that effect. Such things are not put in proclamations. They just become understood.

The administration will bring prosperity faster under such a New Deal. What it needs is more Coolidge and less Tugwell.

The police, the state's attorney, and the United States attorney would do nothing for us, so we called on a man who could project us—Al Capone.—Morris Becker, Chicago cleaner and dyer.

The man who'd brought the Tinymites to Nature Land, to see the sights, said, "Well, now that you're here, I guess I'd best be on my way."

"You tots, of course, have time to roam, but I must hurry right back home. Here comes the man who runs this place. I know he'll let you stay."

The man then ran right up and cried, "How did you wee tots get inside of Nature Land? The door was locked. You must have found the key."

"We did," said Scouty. "Please don't chase us out. We want to see this place. We'll do just as you say, and be as careful as can be."

The man who'd built the wooden horse then said, "I am to blame, of course. I brought these friends Tines here, because they're friends of mine."

"I'd like to leave them, now, with you. You'll like them, and they'll like you, too. They've been with me for days and days, and they have acted fine."

"All right," replied the nature man. "I'll show them everything I can." And then the Tines heard a funny whistle, soft and low.

"I'm calling for my wooden horse. 'Twill take me right back home, of course," exclaimed the man who owned it. Soon the Tines saw him go.

Then Nature Nick yelled, "Come with me. A funny sight you're going to see. My friend, of Bill, the beaver, is at work not far from here."

"He's working on a brand-new dam. You'll shortly hear his mallet slam. He is a friendly fellow, so there's not a thing to fear."

"Oh, gee, I've heard that beavers build fine dams," said Doty. "I'll be thrilled to watch one at his work." Then Coppy cried, "I see him now."

They ran right up and met of Bill. The beaver said, "I've had my fill of work. Who wants to help me with my dam? I'll show you how."

Everyday Religion

LINCOLN

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

Nothing more noble than the spirit of Lincoln has ever been seen in our New World, in whose story he is a towering figure, picturesque, powerful, prophetic. The nearer one comes to him the more one knows about him, the more stainless and just he seems to be.

All men now know that the saving of the Union—without slavery if possible, as he wrote Greeley—was the passion and problem of his life. We also know that whoever else might let go of faith, sink into self-seeking or the pettiness of personal vanity and hatred, that would Lincoln never do.

As Stephens said, in his mind the vision of the Union rose to "the sublimity of a religious mysticism," and to it he paid "the last full measure of devotion," as to the way and will of God for his nation. No man ever held a loftier conception of the sanctity of law than Lincoln held, and his acts were done as if under the eyes of God.

As meditative as Marcus Aurelius and as blithe as Mark Twain, as simple as Aesop yet as subtle as an Oriental, a calm, grave, strong man formidable and sad he stood in the White House an awe-struck ministrant in the temple of God, a high-priest of humanity performing the rites of liberty, justice and charity.

A plain, simple man, friendly and neighborly, he knew that humanity is deeply hurt somewhere, and he tried to heal it. Of his fame there will be no end, because there dwelt in him a spirit which awakens "the better angels of our nature," rebukes our cynicism, and keeps us faithful to the divine destiny of our race and our duty to it.

In the first World's Fair in Chicago in 1892, the leaders of the religious faiths of mankind assembled. In the opening address the names of many leaders were spoken—Paul, Francis, Luther, Lessing. Then the name of Lincoln was heard and that vast audience, such as no man in the world ever saw before, rose and its applause was like an anthem.

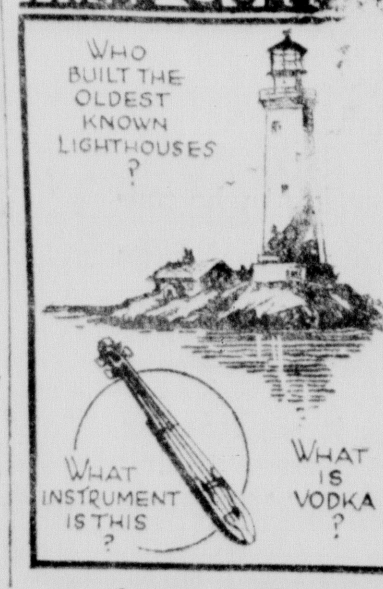

Lincoln has become, for the people of every race, not simply a friend, a neighbor, a hero—but a saint!

CARRIERS OF THIS PAPER JOIN "NEWSPAPER BOYS OF AMERICA"

New National Association Founded to Promote Their Welfare and Business Training

OFFERS BOYS HONOR MEDALS AND AWARDS

This is a "red letter" day in the history of the carrier-salesmen employed on the circulation of this paper. Today they become members of "The Newspaper Boys of America," a new national organization, founded to develop character and business ability in newspaper boys, and sponsored by some of the leading newspapers of the United States. At considerable expense, this paper has undertaken the sponsorship of the Dixon district of the "N. B. A." and is giving its carrier-salesmen all the benefits of N. B. A. membership, without cost to them.

In explaining the new plan and its method of operation, Donald Lerdall, circulation manager, said, "For many years, newspapers have carried on individual programs for the training of their newspaper boys, and have met with great success. Now, a national organization has been formed to study the best methods which the individual papers have employed, and to incorporate them in a uniform plan which promotes the welfare and business training of newspaper boys on a nation-wide scale. This newspaper is happy to be the local sponsor of this modern movement which is doing so much for the newspaper boys of the United States."

Teams and Captains
"The N. B. A. Plan is simplicity itself. It requires no extensive reorganization of our circulation plan. The carrier-salesmen are divided into five teams. The captain is responsible for all the boys in his team."

"All our newspaper boys enter the N. B. A. with the rank of Junior members."

"To become Senior members, the Juniors must win the 4 N. B. A. Seals for punctuality, delivery, collecting and selling. Seniors who want to be Team Captains must meet the N. B. A. requirements of conduct and service for a certain time, and prove their ability as good leaders. This system of ranks is popular with the boys because it gives them steady promotion for performing their duties properly, and offers the really ambitious boys a chance to get ahead. To the less energetic boys, it acts as a spur to follow in the footsteps of their more aggressive brothers. When each boy joins the N. B. A. he is given a copy of the N. B. A. Handbook, and a Junior Pledge card. As soon as he becomes a Senior he receives the beautiful silver-plated N. B. A. Belt Buckle, and a handsome certificate of membership.

Fourteen Honor Medals

"The next feature of the N. B. A. plan which will make a big hit with our carrier-salesmen, is the long list of Honor Medals which are offered by the national association for meritorious conduct and service on the part of newspaper boys. This group of special awards includes fourteen beautiful medals, in four different styles of finish. They are so finely designed and so attractively finished, that every newspaper boy will be eager to win them, and proud to wear and show them to his family, his friends and his subscribers. Five of the honor medals are to be awarded for good conduct and character-building—for courtesy, personal appearance, scholarship, punctuality and thrift. Eight other medals are to be given for proficiency in the duties of a newspaper boy—for route-mapping, efficient delivery, reporting new families, collecting regularly, prospecting for new customers, learning how to sell, salesmanship, and building up the route. The final medal is of 10-K gold and is awarded only to those who have won all of the other medals and qualified as 100% newspaper boys by outstanding service."

Weekly Night School

"Another important part of the plan is 'The Night School' of the newspaper boys. This school meets one evening each week in the Sunday school room of a neighborhood church, or in some other suitable building, and is attended by all our newspaper boys assigned to that district. The instructor is the coach of the sub-station who not only knows each boy personally, but also knows how to bring out the best that is in him. Each night school follows a definite course of study in newspaper duties, business education, and character development. Definite standards of conduct and service are set up for each member of the N. B. A., and every boy must work and study in order to measure up to them, if he is to advance in rank and win his share of the honor medals prizes and other awards. "All the lessons of the night school are designed to make newspaper work easier and more profitable for the boys. The meetings are not 'all work and no play'; plenty of time is taken each night for a game and various other recreational features which all the boys enjoy. The textbook of the school is the 'N. B. A. Handbook' a practical book dealing with all phases of newspaper circulation work for boys. It is both educational and inspirational. It will give every boy and his parents an entirely new picture of his duties and his opportunities, as well as of the important public service he renders. It tells the boy what to do and what to say in all his dealings with customers. It shows his parents the splendid chance he has to acquire a real business training, and to develop good habits while earning a steady, substantial income from his spare time work as a newspaper boy."

Contests and Prizes
"Still another incentive for our boys to be alert and aggressive, is the series of seasonal contests in which this newspaper and the national headquarters of the N. B. A. will offer worth-while prizes in cash or merchandise to the winning boys. Later on, the N. B. A. will offer state and national prizes, in the form of educational trips, college scholarships, etc."

"The final feature of the N. B. A. plan is a Greek letter fraternity in which only those newspaper boys who have passed their N. B. A. conduct and service tests, and won certain of the honor medals, are eligible for membership. The purpose of this fraternity is to encourage good fellowship, helpful fun and brotherly interest among front rank newspaper boys. A local chapter will be formed and chartered just as soon as a sufficient number of our boys have qualified for membership."

"The one thing I wish to emphasize is that all the advantages of membership in the N. B. A. are available to our carrier-salesmen free of charge. I know of no other line of spare-time work where an honest, enterprising boy receives as much valuable business training, has as many opportunities for special rewards and advancement, and earns such a regular and substantial profit for a few hours of pleasant work each week, as he does under the N. B. A. Plan now being sponsored by this newspaper."

VALUE OF INTRAMURAL SPORT IN SCHOOL IS SHOWN

Benefit of a Varied Athletic Program Is Pointed Out

By BRADLEY MOIL

One of the most essential things in the field of athletics, is the giving of experience to a large group of students, or to a large group of interested boys. It is found that certain individuals respond to certain athletic feats more readily than do others. The reason is twofold: Certain boys have more natural ability than others, and they are better equipped to play certain games than others; then there is the fact, so essential, that experience plays an important part in the natural athletic set-up. A player is naturally more confident, more self-assured, and certainly more capable to handle himself if he has had the experience behind him that will make the finished athlete.

One of the factors that is so important, and which accounts for so many good teams, is the experience that certain intramural sports offer. In the field of basketball there is a system used in the Dixon high school which gives all the boys who are not good enough to make the varsity a chance to play the game. In addition to giving them the fun out of the game, it also gives them the fun out of the game, it also gives them some practice that they otherwise would not have. This system is what for the last four years was known as the "Nut League," deriving its name from the fact that the seven team chose as the names the common names like Hickory Nuts, etc. This group of teams plays in competition against themselves, and the rivalry is quite keen. This year the Nut League changed its title, Mr. Bowers, who has charge of the league, of Fowl League would be more appropriate than the so-called Nut League. Mr. Bowers arranges the teams into a schedule each team playing twice a week, on Tuesday and Friday nights. One of the paramount features is to develop some interest, if not some talent, in the basketball field. Of course some of the games are purely of a foul nature, the amount of personal varying from one to eight. On the other hand however the intramural idea of basketball is clearly brought out and the personnel of the league has at several times been lowered by the inroads of the coaches who see some unusual talent.

There are three rounds of games played each year, and at the end the champions of the three rounds compete for the championship of the league, the winner having the name of the team and the Captain inscribed on the traditional pall, which is known as the Aschenbrenner trophy. The results of the rounds are quite surprising and altogether the intramural idea works out to the best interest of all present, or all who participate. In the other fields the football realm has a system almost comparable with the basketball activities. In addition to the two squads with their long schedule of games there are other squads called the flyweights and the leaveweights, who scrimmage among themselves and with teams of respective sizes form other conference. In the grammar school realm there is rivalry in the basketball realm also, and the Dixon all stars, under the direction of Mr. Roundy, have had unusual success in their competition with similar all star teams from surrounding towns. The all star team is selected from the best players in all the public schools in the city. The lightweight squad is formed in a similar way and plays a schedule like the first team. This idea of training students for high school athletics is certainly worth while, and should have some bearing on the future teams that are turned out from the high school.

There is also the feminine realm, and the girl's gym is still maintained, under the direction of Miss White, which gives the girls a chance to participate in their games, including basketball, and any others they may choose.

The other athletic enterprises, excepting track, are of a more or less a secondary nature, but are certainly up and coming.

The golf team is one of these, which this year should really go places in the conference competition it will meet. The team last year gave the opposition a real good fight for they came to the fore with colors flying. The idea of a tennis team is not so remote. The last few years have seen the idea developed, and with several meets in the background the new deal in tennis should see some good interest in that interesting game. The fact that this, as well as other sports are becoming more and more popular certainly goes to show that the youth will take an interest, and will come to the front when called upon. No one can dispute the advantages of this training from several angles, the development of the body, the training for the sport in real competition, and the enlarging of the sports field so it will accommodate more than those who make the regular varsity squads. Intramural athletics should have all the support and all the approval of the followers of the high school in all its fields.

Daily Health Talk

PHENOLPHTHALEIN

Phenolphthalein, derived from coal tar, belongs to the class of chemical dyes and is used widely as a chemical indicator to determine acidity and alkalinity. As a drug it is employed for its laxative effects.

Phenolphthalein is to be found in no fewer than 125 proprietary preparations put up in the form of laxative drugs, chewing gum, confections, fruits and biscuits. It is used to color cake icing and candies and in pink mouth washes and dentifrices.

Experiments have shown the drug to be practically harmless. Many times the number of grains which make up the average dose which is from one to seven grains, have been administered without injury.

On the other hand, there have been cases in which phenolphthalein was responsible for a variety of undesirable results.

The worst case on record is that of a child of 10 who, after eating the contents of a box of phenolphthalein — containing laxative tablets developed a temperature of 106 degrees, multiple minute hemorrhages, delirium, paralysis and died.

Numerous disturbances in numerous organs of the body have also been reported. Swelling of the eyelids, and the development of ulcerations in the mouth and elsewhere have been seen to follow large doses of phenolphthalein.

The most common type of disturbance involves the skin. Eighteen different types of skin involvement and eruptions have been reported attributable to phenolphthalein.

In view of the fact that the use of phenolphthalein is so widespread and in view of the fact that clinical experiments show it to be innocuous in most cases, it would appear that in those instances where it is responsible for untoward developments, the sufferer must be especially sensitive to the drug.

Therefore, while phenolphthalein cannot be condemned, it should be used with caution.

FORWARD PASS' VALUE GREATER IN RULE CHANGE

Two Penalties Which Curbed Its Use Are Now Removed

Atlanta, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The value of the forward pass as an offensive weapon in football was increased today by the removal of two penalties which had curbed the use of the aerial bomb.

The National Football Rules Committee, in its annual meeting here, lifted the touchback penalty on the first forward pass thrown over the goal line and eliminated the five yard forfeiture attendant to a second successive incomplete forward pass.

The first alteration in the rules for 1934 takes away the heavy fine for failure to complete a pass over the goal and probably will result in many more of these daring scoring plays.

Except on fourth down, such an incomplete pass will result only in the cost of a down and not a touchback and the resultant loss of the ball. The touchback feature has been retained for use in the event of a second incomplete pass over the goal.

This new rule is intended to add strength and versatility to the offensive team's attack within the 15-yard lines. The widening of the defense to protect against the additional passing threat should also aid the running game of the attacking eleven.

Punt Re-defined. Another action of the committee was to re-define the punt, so as to allow one player to hold the ball for another to kick it. The use of two men in the execution of a punt generally is only involved in the quick kick. Heretofore, the player holding the ball was required to release it before the kicker had made contact. The change is expected to bring about better and more accurate kicks.

Another step to reduce injuries from the game was taken in prohibiting the use of shoe cleats made of materials liable to chip or fracture.

A further move along these lines was taken in the planning of a safety education campaign among colleges and prep schools to emphasize the need for greater care of minor injuries and more general utilization of proper equipment.

Pickpockets Show Police Chief They Know Trade

Turlock, Calif.—The joke was on Police Chief E. W. Gaddy, but now he's convinced that pickpockets pined their trade during a recent carnival here.

After receiving many complaints of pocket thefts Chief Gaddy visited the carnival with a bulky wallet in one pocket in which he placed a note reading: "Did you ever get fooled?" After an hour the chief returned to his office with the wallet still in his pocket, but on opening it he found a different note saying: "Quit your kidding." It was not signed.

ILLINOIS CAGERS HAVE CHANCE FOR SHARE OF TITLE

Are Tied With Iowa in Second Place in Big Ten League

Chicago, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Iowa's hope of fulfilling pre-season promises for a Big Ten basketball championship probably will be made or broken this week.

Iowa took a sharp drop after losses to Minnesota and Indiana, but bounced again Saturday night when the Hawkeyes conquered Purdue, 38 to 36, on the Boiler-makers' floor. It was Purdue's first defeat of the season and, as the two teams meet at Iowa City Saturday night, left the Hawkeyes with a big chance of dragging Purdue down within reach.

The Hawkeyes will meet Northwestern at Evanston tonight while Purdue plays at Michigan. In the other games, Chicago goes to Illinois, and Ohio State meets Wisconsin at Madison. Flanking the big battle at Iowa City Saturday night, Illinois plays at Wisconsin, Indiana invades Chicago and Michigan meets Ohio State at Columbus.

Illini Start Hitting

Purdue, with four straight victories, appeared to have things under control until the Hawkeyes regained their balance and played as they did in swamping Illinois and Northwestern. Illinois, tied with Iowa in second place today, also has a more than ordinary chance of acting a share of the title. The Illini started hitting again Saturday and defeated Indiana, 28 to 25.

Chicago won its second conference victory after an upsurge in struggle with Northwestern. Led by Bill Haarlow, who fired in eight field goals and five free throws for 21 points, the best individual performance of the season, the Maroons won, 36 to 34. Wisconsin slowed down Minnesota, 31 to 30, before the biggest crowd of the season. Nearly 13,000 watched the Badgers win in the last few seconds on a field goal by Nick de Mack.

Ohio State and Michigan found non-conference opposition a little too good, the Buckeyes losing to Marquette and Michigan bowing to Marquette State. Marquette easily defeated Ohio State, 39 to 23, while Michigan State rallied to beat Michigan, 33 to 26.

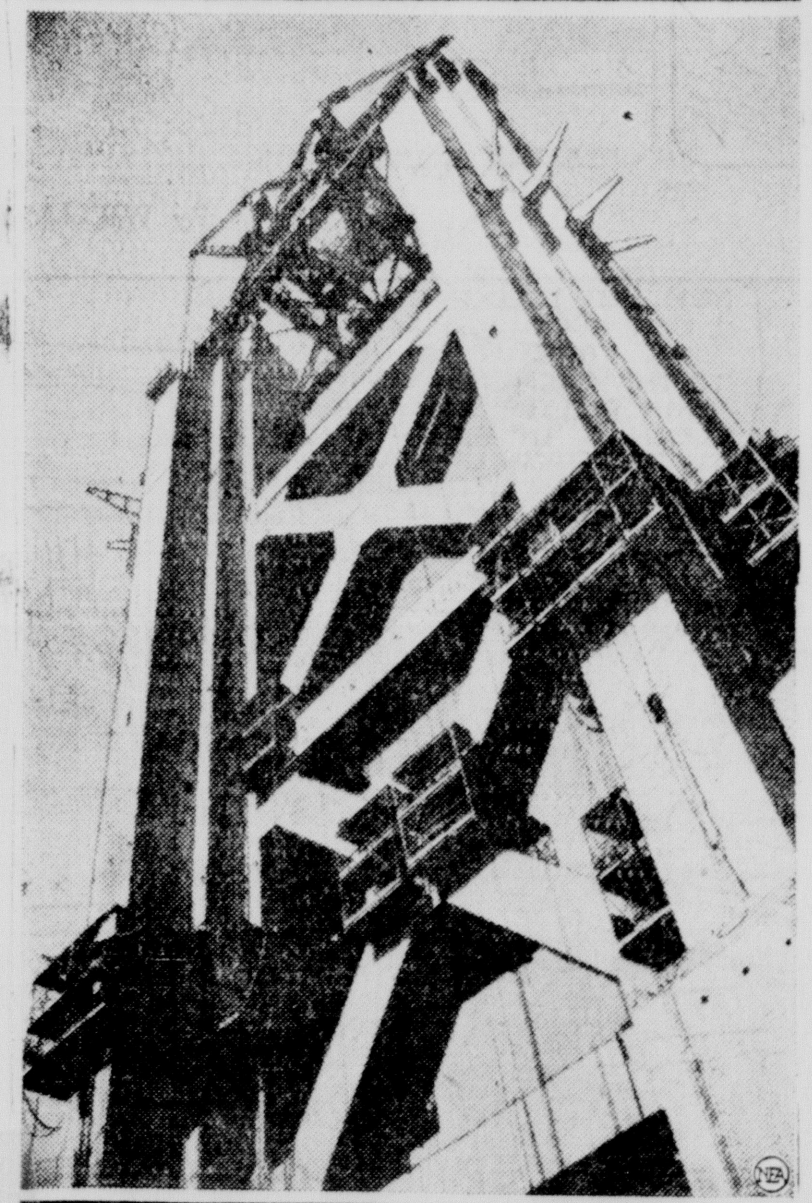

The Standing:

| | W. L. | Pct. | T.P. | O.P. |
|--------------|-------|------|------|------|
| Purdue | 4 | 1 | 800 | 191 |
| Iowa | 4 | 2 | 667 | 210 |
| Illinois | 4 | 2 | 667 | 149 |
| Minnesota | 5 | 4 | 556 | 284 |
| Northwestern | 4 | 4 | 500 | 263 |
| Indiana | 3 | 3 | 500 | 162 |
| Wisconsin | 2 | 3 | 400 | 134 |
| Ohio State | 3 | 5 | 375 | 242 |
| Michigan | 2 | 4 | 333 | 154 |
| Chicago | 2 | 5 | 286 | 187 |

The usual lifeboats on ocean liners may, some day, be replaced by mattresses of kapok, a floating floor resembling cotton, obtained from tropical trees.

Golden Gate Span Reaches for Sky

Towering to dizzy heights, the $35,000,000 bridge across the Golden Gate at San Francisco rises unit by unit, to the staccato tune of riveting machines, operated by workmen who sit in the cages shown suspended along the sides of the massive girders. Other riveters work inside the cellular sections of the giant span and its abutments.

They Satisfy

... people know it!

Same thing with a good cigarette or a good wood-fire.

All you need is a light.

And all you want is a cigarette that keeps tasting right whether you smoke one or a dozen.

That's what people like about Chesterfields. You can count on them. They're milder —and they taste better.

In two words, they satisfy.

That says it.

COOK COUNTY TO RECEIVE NEARLY HALF OF REFUND

Paid 46 Per Cent of Motor Car Licenses in Year 1933

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Cook county will get approximately 46 per cent of the counties' one-third share of the Illinois gasoline tax revenue during 1934.

Revenue from motor vehicle license fees totaled $16,229,327 last year, of which 46 per cent or $7,588,211 came from Cook county. Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes today notified the State Treasurer and State Auditor.

The law provides that the 1934 gas tax allocations to counties will be in proportion with the 1933 license fee payments. One third of the three-cent-a-gallon gas tax goes to the counties, to be used for highways unless pledged to the requirement of relief bonds.

For January the 102 counties are to get a total of $738,016.68 from the gas tax. Arrangements are being made to notify the counties that their allocation for the month will be approximately four and a half cents on each 1933 license fee dollar.

The proportion of the funds for each county will be the same during 1934, although the total amount to be allocated varies for each month.

What Counties Paid
As announced by Hughes, the motor vehicle license fees paid by the downstate counties during 1933 follow:

INDIVIDUALITY OF LINCOLN IS FELT STRONGLY

Spirit of Emancipator Is Still Felt in the White House

Washington, Feb. 12.—(AP)—On this, the 125th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth, the stamp of his individuality is still strong upon the White House.

Of all the Presidents who have lived at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Lincoln seems to have been the one to remain there more than in spirit after his day was done. The Lincoln tradition had a vital hold upon the Republican Hoover.

It was Herbert Hoover who restored the Lincoln study, which had been used as a sleeping room by the Coolidges, and is now a sleeping room again.

Mrs. Hoover gathered the old-fashioned horse hair sofas, the heavily carved bureaus with marble tops, and the other furniture that obviously belonged to Lincoln's time about his massive and elaborately-carved bed in a north-west corner room used for guests.

That room remains, and it's there that more imaginative White House guests sometimes get the eerie feeling that Lincoln also remains.

In one of those conversations that comes from President Roosevelt himself by way of a White House dinner guest who told a friend, it was revealed that the President's own daughter-in-law, Mrs. James Roosevelt, asked to be excused from sleeping in that big old Lincoln bed because it looked and felt spooky.

However, a long succession of Presidents and their wives have peacefully slumbered there. In Theodore Roosevelt's time it was greatly in demand because the whole "White House gang" of small boys could sleep there at once.

The beautiful weather of yesterday stimulated attendance at all services. The Bible school had a total of 332 present. The adult classes made the following record: Men, 44; Young men, 29; Prichas, 49; Upstreamers, 42; True Blue, 26; Young People's 18.

Scout troop No. 89 participated in last night's service in observance of Scout week. The candle lighting service illustrated the Scout laws and was impressive. The boys enjoyed the illustrated talk by the pastor upon "The Game of Life."

Miss Margaret Whiteman sang a solo at morning and evening services. Her splendid contributions to the services were highly appreciated by all.

The Young Men's class will meet tonight at 8:00 o'clock at the church for their regular monthly meeting and social. Lammie Wells is at the head of the class committee.

Scout troop No. 89 will have an interesting meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 with tests and contests. Parents and friends are invited.

The choir has received so many requests to repeat the broadcast program given last Tuesday evening that they have decided to repeat it at 8:15 Tuesday night. No admission charge, but a silver offering will be received.

All-day meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society Wednesday.

Prayer-meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30. The last chapter of II Thessalonians will be the lesson for the evening.

The Anniversary dinner of the C. C. Circle will be held at the home of Mrs. Clark Rickard, 235 Lincoln Way, Thursday at 1 o'clock.

The C. C. I. C. class will hold its meeting at the church Thursday night.

The Young People's choir will meet for rehearsal Thursday night. The Young Men's class will hold its monthly meeting and social Thursday evening at the home of G. S. Parks, 624 Brinton Ave.

The Young People's class will meet at the church Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Choir rehearsal Friday evening at 7:15.

The Lee County Christian Endeavor convention will hold its first session in the basement of the church Saturday evening at 6:30. It will be a scramble supper.

BRETHREN CHURCH
We lacked six of coming up to last Sunday in attendance and everyone was pleased yesterday and it will do some faithful work February will have the best record in attendance ever known in the Dixon Brethren church.

H. McWethy, superintendent of the school made a short talk in which he pointed out the splendid growth our school is making and gave plans for the future.

There was a full house last night to hear the splendid service which brought many compliments. Ora Bender and Roy Glessner sang a duet, after which the play, "Thanksgiving Ann" was given under the direction of Mrs. Thompson. The cast included:

Dr. Allen—Galen Myers.
Mrs. Allen—Gardland Utz.

Ladies' Aid will meet at the parsonage Thursday afternoon.

The Sewing Circle will meet in the home of Mrs. Melvin Burgard Thursday night.

Next Sunday night a patriotic service will be given in which a number of people will have a part, and will have special merit from the standpoint of Christian patriotism.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH
The Boy Scouts will meet this evening at 7:30, under the leadership of Henry Hubble.

The Men's Club will enjoy a dinner in honor of Lincoln tomorrow evening at 6:30.

Holy Communion service Wednesday evening at 7:30, with which to begin the Lenten period. Every member of the church is expected to be present.

Thursday afternoon at 2:30 the Woman's Home Missionary Society will meet with T. W. Clayton, 322 Peoria Ave. Mrs. Gilbert Stansell will be program leader and Prof. B. J. Prasier will be the speaker. Every lady in the church is invited.

Friday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock The World Day of Prayer service will be conducted by the United Woman's Missionary Societies of the churches of Dixon.

LINCOLN BEGAN
RISE TO HONORS
A CENTURY AGO

Was First Elected to the State Legislature in Year 1834

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Abraham Lincoln's career as a successful politician and lawyer started a hundred years ago with his election to the Illinois House of Representatives.

The year 1834 was the turning point in his life. Lincoln students said today as his 125th birthday anniversary was observed in the home town of the Civil War President.

He went into politics and decided to study law, definitely taking up the legal profession as something better than his work as store clerk, Postmaster and Deputy Surveyor in the village of New Salem.

Young Lincoln was just 25 years old when he campaigned successfully as a non-partisan candidate for the legislature.

Issues Unknown
Historians have little information on the specific issues expounded by Lincoln in 1834. An autobiography by Lincoln, however, says that it was during the campaign that Major John T. Stuart, another candidate, started the future President on his legal career. As told by Lincoln:

During the canvass, in a private conversation, he (Stuart) encouraged Abraham to study law. After the election he borrowed books of Stuart, took them home with him and went at it in good earnest. He studied with nobody. He still mixed in the surveying to pay board and clothing bills. When the legislature met, the law books were dropped, but were taken up again at the end of the session.

The winning appeal for votes was typically Lincolnian, with the candidate making short speeches relating anecdotes and personally eliciting the support of new friends made during the campaign. History records that it was not uncommon for Lincoln to stop a 1st fight before starting a speech.

Married Flirts

MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married on the same day as LILA HOTLING and DEREK BLISS but Lila's wedding is a society event while Gypsy's is very simple.

While Lila lives in luxury Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income. She keeps her job teaching until she learns she is to have a baby. After David's birth she is extremely busy, caring for him and for her home.

Tom is frequently away from the evening and Gypsy suspects he is interested in VERA GRAY. One day she sees them going to lunch together. She is heart-broken and refuses to listen to his explanations.

Lila confesses to Gypsy that she intends to divorce Derek and marry MARK BROUGHTON, richer and older.

Gypsy's father is seriously injured in a motor accident and Tom rushes to the Morell home. Meanwhile Lila tells Derek she wants a divorce.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIV
"MISS GRAY to see you." The automatic announcer on Tom Weaver's desk parroted the words and Tom, frowning, said, "Let her come in."

The girl who presently appeared on the threshold was dazzling in her morning freshness. Her gold-and-white, rather flashy good looks were admirably set off by a brown tailored suit, faultlessly cut. The guardsman's hat of gleaming brown, Vera, Tom reflected, had always known how to wear clothes. She was the type that young men still artlessly describe as a "knockout."

"Good morning!" She settled herself in the one comfortable chair in the cubicle and smiled at him brilliantly.

"I didn't know you were back. Tom said, 'Gigaret'?"

She accepted and lighted it gracefully. Everything this girl did was studied.

"Got that bird Varick at last," she said with a satisfied smile.

"You did?" Tom showed interest.

"You said I couldn't. But I did!" Her white teeth flashed in triumph.

"Well, he's always been a hard nut. Hard man to see," Tom said reflectively. "Vamped him, eh?"

"I wouldn't say that," Her still very laugh tinkled in modesty.

"Lawrence'll be pleased," Tom swerved in his chair, staring out over the roofs.

"You should have had that account, Tommy!" Her voice took on warmer notes and she laid a hand on his sleeve.

"No, rot, it's your business! Glad to see a young girl get along," He smiled at her.

"Wasn't it the funniest thing?" she asked with relish. "My walking in here that day and Mr. Lawrence remembering me back at the Boston office and asking how I'd like to try my hand at the New York work?"

"Certainly wasn't!" Tom's voice sounded enthusiastic enough but there were little lines around his eyes. He looked tired.

"And I was just mad to come down, of course. Who wouldn't?" Vera demanded. "It was the chance of a lifetime."

"Well, you're making good. Who says you're not?" Tom spoke heartily.

"I love it here. . . . Vera stripped off her gloves, rising. "I've got to get some letters off. I suppose you're going downstairs to lunch at about one?"

THE young man showed signs of embarrassment. "Matter of fact, no, not, he, he, he. I've got to see a man uptown and I'm grabbing a sandwich. Besides I'm keeping in close touch with the house."

and went at it in good earnest. He studied with nobody. He still mixed in the surveying to pay board and clothing bills. When the legislature met, the law books were dropped, but were taken up again at the end of the session.

The winning appeal for votes was typically Lincolnian, with the candidate making short speeches relating anecdotes and personally eliciting the support of new friends made during the campaign. History records that it was not uncommon for Lincoln to stop a 1st fight before starting a speech.

DIXON DIVIDED A DOUBLE CARD AT MT. MORRIS

Lightweights Win As the Heavies Take it on Chin Saturday

By BRADLEY MOLL
Again the Dixon boys split their winnings, this time at Mt. Morris, the lightweight squad winning their game after a tight game, by the score of 17 to 9, while the major event terminated in another defeat for Dixon, the locals losing to Mt. Morris by a score of 18 to 11.

Mt. Morris built up a lead of 7 points in the first quarter, the Dixon scoring was cut down to a minimum. Whether the defeat of Saturday night was just another defeat, or whether the game of Friday night with Mendota, took all the life out of the Dixon boys, or whether the team just couldn't get going, or whether it was some other reason, the writer has no way of knowing. With the Dixon team being unable to score the first quarter, the passing attack of the Mt. Morris squad was good, and the Dixon boys were not pressing them hard enough to secure the ball as they did with the Mendota boys. If Dixon had played the game that they did with Mendota, they would have come home with another victory. Mt. Morris played a good passing attack, and followed their shots in with success.

The lightweight game was the real game of the evening. The game was a tight battle, and at the end of the first period Mt. Morris led by 2-1. The half Mt. Morris still led the Dixon boys, this time by 4-3. Dixon was not clicking but the third quarter saw Dixon break the ice, and really start to town, and all the Mt. Morris attempts to check the Dixon boys in that quarter were useless. The Dixon team led at the end of the third period by the score 14-6. The final period saw the two teams trying to click off their respective attacks and the game ended with Dixon ahead, 17-9. In that contest Dixon had 50 per cent for his free throws, while Mt. Morris had but 11 per cent. Ramsey of Dixon and Zellers of Mt. Morris were high point men with seven points apiece.

In the heavyweight contest Dixon had 75 per cent, while Mt. Morris had 54 per cent of the free throws. Rouse of Mt. Morris led the scoring with nine points, while Underwood of Dixon came second with five points.

WOLVERINES NOW IN TOP POST IN LADIES' LEAGUE

Displaced the Jones Grocery Outfit in Last Week's Contests

The Wolverines won all three games from the Woolworth Girls and as a direct result now possess a two game advantage in team standings, the Jones Grocers having lost a full set to the Blackhaws.

The Woolworth team still claims the highest single game of 778 and the largest three game series of 2183.

Miss Pearl Neff of the Wolverines team holds high single game of 216 and high series of 569 for the Ladies League.

Anna Daschbach leads in individual averages with 158 for 36 games, while Jarlath Jones is runner up with 142.

Marie Worley holds third with 141; Lucy Bovey, fourth with 136; and Elsie Neff and Helen Finney are tied for fifth with 134.

MANY STAR BASE BALL PLAYERS ON HOLDOUT ROSTER

Most Prominent Among Them is Jim Foxx
of Athletics

New York, Feb. 12 —(AP)—Major league baseball owners, retrenching for the third successive year, have dished out another series of salary slashes for 1934, and are now reaping a banner crop of holdouts.

Babe Ruth, erstwhile champion of the salary-arguers, meekly signed a New York Yankee contract some weeks ago at $35,000, representing a cut of $17,000 and some clubs as a whole, notably the world champion New York Giants, apparently are having little trouble swinging their performers into line but elsewhere the anguished howls of the players indicates the managers will need plenty of persuasive arguments before all will be serene again.

Foxx Most Prominent
Most prominent among the dissatisfied is Jimmie Foxx, who captured just about all the batting championships the American League could offer last season. Instead of a raise, Foxx was asked to take a cut. The big first baseman indignantly turned it down and announced he'd wait for the club to move next.

Though the A's have other troubles with outfielder Roger Cramer, for instance, the principal storm centers right now appear to be the Washington Senators, American League champions, the Cleveland Indians, Brooklyn Dodgers and probably the Yankees.

The entire Cleveland roster, with the exception of a couple of rookie pitchers, are listed as holdouts. Earl Averill, clouting outfielder, hasn't read his contract yet but baseball critics predicted he'd join the rest when he does.

Many Senators Out
Al Crowder, Earl Whitehill and Walter Stewart, first-string pitchers, outfielder Heinie Manush, infielders Joe Kuhel and Buddy Myer and catcher Luke Sewell head a long list of Washington Senators who have not yet signed and are classed as holdouts. The others include Moe Berg, Cliff Bolton, Bob Boken, Jack Russell, Alex McColl and Dave Harris. A pretty good team could thus be organized from the ranks of discontented Senators.

Hack Wilson, Joe Stripp, Van Mungo and Al Lopez have been listed as Brooklyn holdouts and there's a strong suspicion that others of Max Carey's ensemble have looked at the figures the club offered and found them wanting.

Guess at Slashes
The Yankee situation involves plenty of guessing. Definitely it's known only that Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Russ Van Atta have signed and that Vernon Gomez is a holdout, but the club sent out its contracts only a few days ago, and their fate remains undetermined. There's no guessing about the slashes the club handed out to some of the regulars on the roster.

Detroit hasn't had a real holdout since Ty Cobb gave the club an argument in 1913 and expects none this winter. Neither do the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Cincinnati Reds, the Chicago White Sox, or Boston's two representatives Red Sox and Braves.

Larry MacPhail of the Reds has sent out 20 contracts so far and 15 have come back signed and the rest have indicated satisfaction. MacPhail has adopted the system of conferring with his players first and adjusts differences of opinion before presenting any contract.

Martin Dissatisfied
There have been rumblings that Pepper Martin is dissatisfied with terms offered by the St. Louis Cardinals, but he hasn't been listed officially as a holdout.

The Phillies' only known disputant is a rookie infielder from Memphis, Louis Chiozza.

Minnesota Center
Leading Scorer in Big Ten This Morn

Chicago, Feb. 12—(AP)—Gordon Norman, Minnesota's tall center, had a 10 point margin over Lyle Fisher of Northwestern today in the firing to the Big Ten individual basketball scoring title, but Norm Cotton of Purdue had the best average in the league.

Norman scored eight points against Wisconsin Saturday night to lift his total to 81 points in nine games. Fisher had 71 for eight games, while Cotton, just back in action, had 51 for five contests.

Bill Haarlow, Chicago sophomore, set a season high mark Saturday with 21 points against Northwestern.
